ABSTRACT

An improved clear polyurethane coating for a golf ball comprises a coating that dries on-line at elevated temperatures in 10 minutes and without assistance of a plural machine; a method for coating golf balls with the fast-drying coating system. The coating system provides improved flight characteristics to the golf balls.